

Our Town

By Peggy Blanchard

"I may not agree with a word you say, but I'll defend to the death your right to say it."

Today Campbell hails the victory of a progressive electorate in the passage of the Lexington Dam provisions—a measure that will benefit every mortal within Santa Clara Valley and thousands outside its pleasant borders.

Soon Campbell is to decide whether this district will become an incorporated town of some 4500 persons or will remain—at least for the brief present—a rural area under county jurisdiction.

Feelings will run high on both sides of the incorporation question, if a stranger may judge by the close vote at the last election on this issue.

...That's why, today, we unblushingly recommend the reading of our own Judge John D. Blaine's column in this paper. We are all going to need a good supply of smiles and neighborliness in the campaign ahead.

Lucky us, that these United States were founded on a certain kind of chivalry called the consent of the governed—a practice that gives every man's political belief the same weight as his neighbors' and makes compromise by majority rule a living theory.

It's popular nowadays to blame the ills of the world on mysterious fellows somewhere far off—on Wall Street say, or the Chicago Grain exchange. Some blame the Democratic administration in Washington, D. C., and some a Republican Congress. Others go further afield and blame it all on the Russians, the Chinese, the British, the Arabs or the French.

It seems to me the world we live in, though, is about 90 percent Campbell and how we live here, and ten percent national and international politics, economics and ideologies.

In Campbell we are truly sovereign. We can decide here by election what kind of government we shall have. We can watch the results of our firm, bold X on a ballot see, hear and talk to the men who preside over our public affairs.

I can't tell in what mood Stalin, Bevins, or the head of some great cartel will be tomorrow morning, but I do know from years of observation that in any American community, when responsible citizens want good government enough to work for it THEY GET IT.

In discussing incorporation or any other public issue we can afford the priceless—but, Thank God, ordinary—American privilege of speaking candidly, acting without bitterness or fear. Our destiny here is between ourselves and our consciences. I would not trade that estate with any dictator—would you?

Mr. T. A. Cutting, contributor of the History of Campbell series, has just presented us with a brand new book, published in limited edition by himself. It is his treatise on California Indians and is a fascinating account of pre-Americans in this vicinity. Many thanks—I'll cherish it.

A native of Michigan she is survived by a brother, William T. Denton of Patterson and three nieces and one nephew. Interment was in Oak Hill Memorial Park.

Not Epidemic

No significant increase in the number of poliomyelitis cases in Santa Clara County has been noted by County Health Officer Dr. W. Elwyn Turner so far this year.

Dr. Turner's office, which conducted an autopsy into the death Monday of Adrienne Bianucci, of Campbell, said Wednesday that there is no polio epidemic here at present. Death of the 15-year-old girl was attributed to the dread infantile paralysis.

There is no occasion at present to keep children out of school or to order any special measures other than the ordinary precaution observed by parents and school faculty at all times, health officials said.

Magic Show

Coming To Town

The Campbell Chamber of Commerce will present Lee Grabel, Master Magician, in Campbell Union High school auditorium at 8 p.m. Saturday, October 18. Grabel, known for his sleight of hand artistry, will put on a two hour entertainment, assisted by "Helene."

The show is for the benefit of the Chamber of Commerce fund and is under the direction of Homer Hyde, Lloyd Nelson, Verne Balcom and Bob Raker, committeemen. Prices have been fixed at 75c for adults and 50c for children under 12.

Good, clean fun for the entire family is the chief attraction of the Magic Show. The artist uses tons of equipment in creating his illusions which feature a girl walking through a keyhole, the famous Houdini trunk escape and the sensational disappearance of a girl. Colorful costumes and good music go to create the atmosphere of magic disappearances.

HONDURAS

Columbus first set foot on the mainland of the New World in 1502 in what is now the Republic of Honduras in Central America. The great explorer was soon followed by the Spanish conquistadores, who took over a country rich in natural resources and mines and in the ancient civilization of the Mayas. Today, Honduras is an important exporter of bananas, mahogany and products of the forest. Her capital is Tegucigalpa and her 1,500,000 people occupy some 44,000 square miles. Her representative to the United Nations is Dr. Tiburcio Carias. Her flag has five blue stars in a white stripe between blue stripes.

Bond Issue Wins By Large Majority; Construction Seen For 1949

California's big centennial year will see one more conservation problem well on the way to completion.

Lexington dam on the Los Gatos creek is scheduled for construction during that year, following its approval by Water Conservation District voters Tuesday.

Campbell precincts voted 464 to 119 and 371 to 90 in favor of the two and a half million dollar bond issue.

A similar amount was voted by the California State Legislature at its last session for relocation of the present Los Gatos-Santa Cruz highway.

Lexington dam and reservoir will be built on Los Gatos creek near the old town-site of Lexington above Los Gatos. It will cover about 450 acres and have a storage capacity of about 25,000 acre feet.

Nats Flies Vaccine To Egypt

The second shipment of cholera vaccine from the U. S. Navy Medical Supply Depot, Oakland, left Moffett Field this week aboard a Naval Air Transport Service (NATS) plane bound for Brooklyn, N.Y. The 900 pounds of vaccine will be used to replenish supplies which have been rushed to Cairo, Egypt, to aid in combatting the outbreak of Bubonic Plague there.

A NATS plane piloted by Commander V. G. Sanborn of Great Neck, L.I., was the first to set down in Cairo carrying the vital needed medical supplies.

Community Chest Underway Here

With a goal of $3500 for the 1947-48 Community Chest Fund in Campbell ahead of them, workers began solicitation of local homes and businesses this week.

Martin S. Walsh, president of Campbell Community Council, said this morning that he anticipates the Campbell quota will be met during the October campaign if all workers continue with the efforts and enthusiasm shown in the initial days of the drive.

All funds contributed by local donors are used in Campbell or are available for use here as requested, Ray Fish, Community Chest chairman, pointed out. The Campbell Chest fund will send a partial contribution to headquarters of the Camp Fire Girls, Boy Scouts of America, and the YMCA in San Jose this year for the first time, he said, but services and funds will be available for the corresponding Campbell organizations in equal proportion.

Community Chest budget requirements for the year are as follows:

Library fund, $500; Relief Society $300; Campbell Scout hall $100; Unbudgeted reserve for Campbell $1075; Camp Fire Girls $300; Boy Scouts $600; YMCA $300; office expenses $25; gen. res. $200.

Workers for the current campaign are:

Campbell Union High school; Campbell Union Grammar school;

Moreland Grammar school PTA; S. C. County Hospital; Louis Carboni Mrs. George Meyer, Mrs. Ellen Lanphear, Mrs. E. F. Ballot, Mrs. C. E. Williams, Miss Mary Fabinger, Mrs. T. A. Robinson, Mrs. Wm. Burnett, Mrs. John Morley, D. H. Cramer, LBen Howard, Country Womans' club, Sigma Sigma club, Mrs. M. Field and Mrs. Ray Gilpatrick.

Others who wish to volunteer to solicit donations are asked to call at the Campbell Water company office, where temporary headquarters have been set up. Mrs. H. F. Cousins is secretary for the local fund.

Student Safety Stressed At PTA

Members of the Campbell Union Grammar school meeting Tuesday afternoon under the leadership of President Mrs. J. Longfellow, heard Art Tindall, vice-principal of the school, speak on bus and school ground safety rules. Tindall stated that a stop and go signal was needed at the Winchester crossing, and also stressed the need for observance of the traffic rule requiring the stopping of any car for a stopped school bus.

Also speaking before the members was Mrs. Esther Johnson, school nurse, who urged that every child have an adequate breakfast and sufficient sleep at night. A T.B. test will be given all first grade children this year and it is hoped that the dental trailer will also visit the school. Eye and ear tests are also given throughout the year.

A report on the state PTA convention was given by Mrs. J. W. Knowles and Mrs. Clarence Fagilde, Parent Education chairman for the sixth district, also spoke.

A salvage drive has been scheduled for November 6 and 7 with a prize for the room collecting the largest amount of old rags. The membership drive will start next week.

During the meeting the new officers for the year were introduced, headed by Mrs. Longfellow as president; Mrs. J. D. Cantoni, vice-president; Mrs. J. W. Brown, second vice-president, and Mrs. H. F. Richard, third vice-president.

Other officers are: Mrs. W. L. Powell, secretary; Mrs. G. K. Shrader treasurer; Mrs. C. L. Hedegard, historian; Mrs. J. W. Knowles, parliamentarian; Mrs. Herman Rice, refreshments; Mrs. Herman Owen, finance and budget; Mrs. Clifford Gerlach, Founders Day; Mrs. Anna Smith, citizenship and music; Mrs. C. M. Clever, publicity; Mrs. Sutton, room mother; Mrs. O'Fling, decorations, and Mrs. Fried, membership.

The next meeting has been scheduled for November 4.

To Teach Square Dances

Swing your "pardner" to the right and do-se-do on the corners all!

American square dances and folk dances from all nations will be taught at Campbell Union High school adult center beginning at 7:30 Wednesday night October 15.

Mrs. Alice M. Spencer, who has played a prominent role in organization of folk dancing groups in San Jose, will teach the class.

Registrations will be taken at Campbell Library hall Monday, October 13.

PUBLIC REPRESENTED AT OPEN MEETING IN HIGH SCHOOL

The Campbell Chamber of Commerce voted unanimously at a special meeting Wednesday night to support the move for the incorporation of Campbell.

The meeting was held in the Campbell Union High school and was attended by about a fourth of the membership. Several other club meetings and organizational affairs were held on Wednesday night, holding the attendance to the low figure. Many of those present were not members but were privileged to voice their opinions.

After questions put to John J. Lynch, an authority on public and civic affairs, discussions as to the merits of the plan and the advisability of the Chamber lending its support, a motion was made by Miss Rachel Spradling that the organization go on record as supporting the plan. The motion was immediately seconded and a voice vote taken, which was unanimous.

TAX INCREASE MINOR

Discussion at times bordering on argument, enlivened the proceedings Mrs. H. S. Young, who resides on Budd avenue, voiced the opinion that the incorporation of the town would work a hardship on those holding acreage. The youngs have 15 acres which lie within the proposed city limits. In answer to her objections Mr. Lynch pointed out that the difference in the 1948-49 tax rate for the county of $3.934 (unincorporated area) and the tax rate for the proposed city of Campbell of $4.574 could not be reasonably assumed a hardship since it provides for a lighting, fire and police district. As an example, a piece of property having an assessed valuation of $10,000 would pay slightly over $60 additional and have the advantage of fire and police protection, as well as being included in the lighting district. Mr. Lynch pointed out that he was a disinterested party to the issue, his residence being in San Jose. He was not acting in the capacity of promulgating the plan, but was trying to enlighten questioners from the knowledge he has of the subject.

Parents heard Mrs. Mary Lewis, Miss Helen Nielsen and Harold Drummond, councilors, and Mrs. Alfreda Runge, school nurse, in a panel discussion of the subject after a pot-luck supper held in the High School Cafeteria.

Miss Muriel Ponder described her work in helping freshmen adjust themselves to the high school environment. The teachers were introduced by Laurance J. Hill, principal.

Eldon Sylva, saxophone, and his accompanist, Jeanette Gomes, provided music for the meeting, first of a series to be held during the year. Moving pictures were shown for the youngsters.

Navy ROTC Sets Tests For Seniors

The Navy Department announced today that December 18, 1947, would be the date of the second annual nationwide aptitude test which is a prerequisite for entry into the Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps. Some 2500 new candidates are expected in this program for college, 1948.

The program is open to male high school seniors and graduates between the ages of 17 and 21, who meet required mental and physical standards and provides four years of government subsidized college education at 52 universities and colleges in various parts of the country, in which NROTC units are established. In this program the Navy department pays for tuition, books, and the normal fees required by the college, and in addition provides the student with a $53 a month living allowance.

The student may take any course leading to a baccalaureate degree that he desires, subject to including therein certain naval science subjects. In return he is required to participate in certain drills and cruises, and upon graduation to accept a commission in the Navy or Marine Corp, if qualified.

After two years of active duty he may elect to transfer to the Naval Reserve and return to civilian life, or he may request retention in the regular navy and if selected, make the Navy his career.

Mr. A. C. Hall of Santa Cruz will speak and a musical program will be presented.

Orchard City Grange To Meet

Orchard City Grange will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday, October 14, in Odd Fellows hall, Campbell.

Herbert M. Shadle will preside. Mr. A. C. Hall of Santa Cruz will speak and a musical program will be presented.

It looks an awful lot like rain. This may be caused by a recent window washing; it may be because of the Lexington Dam approval or it may be the time of year - -

Washington MERRY-GO-ROUND

KEEPING PUBLIC INFORMED

Washington—One thing General Marshall hasn't learned in his difficult role as secretary of state is the importance of keeping the American public informed. Not only has he abandoned the daily press conferences of previous secretaries of state, but also his undersecretary, Bob Lovett has ordered a new blackout which helps to mystify rather than clarify the issues Marshall should want the public to understand.

Twenty-odd years ago, Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes began a policy of meeting the press once a day. At times he even held conferences twice a day. Thus began a period of genuinely frank and open diplomacy.

Other republican secretaries of state—Frank B. Kellogg, Henry L. Stimson—followed suit. So also for a while did Cordell Hull. However, because of illness, Hull's conferences gradually lapsed.

Jimmie Byrnes held conferences intermittently, but now Marshall has suspended them almost altogether. Instead of daily meetings, his press conferences can be counted on the fingers of two hands. At first this could be chalked up to inexperience. New at the game, Marshall was not familiar with various foreign questions, felt he could not talk about them to the press. But now that he has the reins firmly in his hands, he still shuns the old republican tradition of regular press conferences.

FLYING HIGH

The air forces is keeping it quiet for the sake of the other services but it has been snowed under with applications from former army, navy and marine officers—begging for enlisted status in the air corps. More than 24,000 applications have poured into recruiting offices from ranks as high as navy captain and army colonel. Those who can meet the air corps' tough standards are assigned new ranks, ranging from corporal to master sergeant. Although enlistments are booming under impetus of a vigorous recruiting drive, the air corps is still short 67,000 enlisted men.

HENRY WALLACE—Democrat

You can write it down that Henry Wallace finally has made up his mind not to lead a third party in the 1948 election campaign.

The Wallace decision came after a political survey showed:

1. A third party would have no chance of victory in 1948.
2. A third party would elect republicans everywhere.
3. There is more hope of liberalizing the democratic party than of forming a successful third party.

The Wallace decision means that he definitely will remain in the democratic party although he has reached no decision about supporting Mr. Truman for re-election.

Wallace and aides won't admit it publicly, but privately they believe Mr. Truman has only a slight chance for re-election, no matter whom the republicans nominate.

MacARTHUR AS CANDIDATE

Quiet, conscientious Rep. Sterling Cole, republican of Bath, N.Y. was discussing his trip to the Philippines with Capt. Vic Harding, secretary of the democratic congressional committee.

"Are you going to see to it that Gen. MacArthur gets back here in time for a heroic 100 days before the convention?" Harding joshed his friend.

"You've got it figured right," the New York congressman replied, "and when we bring him back here, you come and see me. Maybe I'll have jobs for you and some of your democratic friends on my farm. With MacArthur back you won't have much to do in Washington."

"I'm not worried about that," shot back Harding. "We'll just bring Gen. Wainwright in, fight the Battle of the Philippines all over again and find out who left the Philippines first and why."

NO CASTE SYSTEM

Caste-conscious enlisted men may achieve after death what they could never get in life—equal privileges with officers. Once they are six feet under, according to a postwar army ruling, discrimination officially ends. The new war department regulations call for identical graves regardless of rank or race, except in old cemeteries where the pattern would be interrupted.

Yet despite this bold break with brass-bound tradition old practices still prevail up to the grave's edge. The old burial code giving officers bigger tombstones and exclusive graves was scrapped by the army quartermaster corps under pressure from indignant kin. The quartermaster corps has charge of national cemeteries for both the army and navy.

Campbell Court Notes

By Judge Blaine

Tone of these notes this week will be a bit sentimental, to prove that the Campbell judge really has a heart.

A very old friend not long ago said, "Everything has its bright side and its dark side. Don't let anybody 'make you believe that anything at all can be all bright.'"

There's something in it. Take Campbell's new delivery of town mail! No longer do so many of us meet on the way to or from the post office and this loss is a real social catastrophe.

There were people you had known for years but rarely saw except on the street. Sometimes you stopped for a little chat, and sometimes you just smiled and said "How are you?" In either case it meant a lot.

Then there were people comparatively new. Gradually you took courage to begin speaking without introduction. You didn't know just when the beginning should be, but eventually you took a chance.

Student Traffic System At Work

Boys and girls with the "Stop" signs in their hands and blue and white caps on their heads, appear at all the cross walks near the Campbell Grammar school at all opening and closing sessions of the school. Those children are there to protect the lives of other children from careless motorists, and the cooperation of all motorists using the streets adjacent to the school is being asked.

A total force of 60 officers, made up of pupils from the eighth grade, are chosen on the basis of capability for service. This group is divided into a street patrol and a grounds and building patrol.

The main duty of the street patrol officers is to conduct children across the busy intersections. The grounds and building force oversees the children on the playgrounds and sees that minor infractions of rules are taken care of. The entire school operates under a set of rules of conduct which governs their actions toward teachers, each other and buildings and equipment. In case that a youngster is guilty of breaking one of these rules, and is in the 4th grade or above, a ticket is issued which requires that the offender appear in court to answer the charge. A jury made up of 7th and 8th grade children hears the case, and in the event of a not guilty plea, the jury decides upon the guilt of the person. A judge clerk and secretary of the court are in charge of court procedure and these posts are filled by the leaders of the traffic force. During the present term the leaders are Patty Powell, captain; Patty Taylor, girls' lieutenant, and Jack Feanzen, boys' lieutenant.

The school patrol system was instituted a number of years ago by Mrs. Ruth Stuart, now coordinator at the grammar school. It now is under the direction of Arthur Tindall, vice-principal.

A recent modification has been the setting up of a separate jury made up of children from the San Tomas and Moorpark schools. Since the schools are operating in a semi-independent way it was felt that the youngsters from those schools would benefit from making their own decisions affecting their own companions.

The arrangement of allowing the pupils to assume these responsibilities works out beneficially in a number of ways. Chief among these is the fact that they derive from the experience a better understanding of cooperation and respect for authority of our judicial system work. They are encouraged to make decisions and to assume obligations and to follow through with both.

Twenty-six percent of the area of San Diego county is federally owned and tax-exempt.

A WORLD OF FOOD

WE WILL PAY $5.00 FOR EACH STRANGE FOOD FACT SUBMITTED AND USED. ADDRESS, A WORLD OF FOOD, 239 WEST 39 STREET, NEW YORK, N.Y.

Sometimes it was really exciting—especially if it was somebody of the opposite sex.

Now faces once familiar and habitually looked for may be hardly seen on the street at all. You'd almost be willing to become a book agent in order to have an excuse to look them up. The few remaining friends who go to the post office are very precious.

And speaking again of the bright side and the dark, the faces of those going out of the post office are in the light while those entering are relatively in the dark. This is a difference for those entering to consider. If you are going out and don't see a beginning smile until its owner has looked away, it's a catastrophe of first magnitude. It's almost enough to put a body in a hospital.

Admitted that all this is small-town stuff. In big cities people see only people, not individuals. Big cities are comparatively heartless and soulless. Maybe big cities have their bright sides, too, but sometimes we almost doubt it.

all along the line!

Thousands of men are at work on scores of projects throughout Northern and Central California in this company's $350,000,000 expansion program to meet the future needs of this area for electricity and power. Some of the major projects in this construction program are:

KERN STEAM PLANT—A new $25,620,000 steam-operated powerhouse near Bakersfield to generate 235,000 horsepower of electricity.

MIDWAY SUBSTATION—A $10,300,000 project, including a 212-mile transmission line and a switching station to bring 220,000-volt power from Sierra hydroelectric plants to the Southern San Joaquin Valley.

MORAGA SUBSTATION—A $7,200,000 substation and transmission line project to bring 250,000 additional horsepower of electricity to the power pool serving Contra Costa and Alameda Counties.

MISSION STATION—A new $6,400,000 substation and two transmission circuits to augment the power supply of the San Francisco metropolitan area.

STATION "P" STEAM PLANT, SAN FRANCISCO—700,000 project that will increase the electric generating capacity of the present plant at Hunter Point from 62,000 horsepower to 360,000 horsepower.

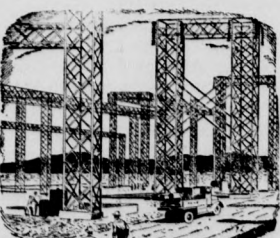

ELECTRA AND WEST POINT POWERHOUSES—Two new powerhouses costing $19,600,000 with a combined generating capacity of 154,000 horsepower on the Mokelumne River.

ROCK CREEK AND CRESTA POWERHOUSES—Two new hydro plants on the North Fork of the Feather costing $61,800,000 and having a combined generating capacity of 270,000 horsepower.

This is the biggest construction job the P. G. and E. has ever undertaken and work is being accelerated as fast as materials and manufactured electric equipment are delivered. So far we are right on schedule to have the vast job done in 1951.

Diary of Barbara, our newest operator

"First day at work... and I wasn't a bit nervous! I thought I would be, but the girl who is teaching me was perfectly wonderful. I practiced on a special board with one other girl and we had a lot of fun laughing about our mistakes. The work is interesting... and I'm paid regular wages while in training."

"I met lots of friendly girls in our comfortably-furnished lounge... that's where we get acquainted and enjoy refreshments during leisure periods. All the girls I've met seem to feel that being a telephone operator isn't just another job... they say it's a real opportunity for a girl to do helpful, important work that benefits everyone in town."

"I'll get three raises the first year, then a week's paid vacation... two weeks after two years. I know I'm going to love my job..." We want you to enjoy your job, Barbara. You'll have the security of sickness benefits and a fine pension plan, too. And it's important work—the life of the community and of the country flows through your magic switchboard."

New Working Dollars... Millions of new dollars needed to build buildings and buy new equipment to meet the public demand for more telephones and more service do not come from telephone bills. New dollars come from people who are willing to put their savings into the business. We must earn enough to attract these new working dollars.

Country Woman's Club Studies Home Arts

Hurrying through the October sunshine toward the Campbell Country Woman's club meeting in the library building Monday afternoon, members of the group gathered to hear Mrs. Frances R. Patterson discuss Home Arts.

They found the clubroom beautifully decked out in clusters of lavender and white dahlias accented by copper ornaments. The speaker's table repeated the same color in a bouquet of petunias.

Preceding the short business meeting the group was led in the pledge of allegiance and singing of America by Mrs. G. H. Parker. Mrs. David Sanders was accompanist for group singing.

In her talk, Mrs. Patterson dwelt on practical aspects of interior decoration, especially as applied to living rooms of the average home. She feels that color is the greatest single factor in this art and stressed the use of a planned color scheme. Plastic wallpaper and nylon drapery material were displayed by the speaker.

Mrs. Frank Blair assumed the duties of chairman for the afternoon in the absence of Mrs. W. C. Elkey. Mrs. H. W. Jensen, Mrs. E. L. Farnham, Mrs. R. L. Nelson, Mrs. Leslie Titus, Mrs. R. W. Atkinson and Miss Helen Stray were her committee.

LETTER FROM BETTY

We received a letter from Betty the other day. She said they were not completely unpacked but gradually getting settled.

"So far we are enjoying living in the country tremendously. The weather has been most cooperative and we are having the loveliest Indian summer I have ever seen. I had forgotten how beautiful the autumn foliage is here in the northwest where there is so much of it.

"We now have a mother cat, two kittens, two shepherd pups and a white horse named Pedro. A neighbor and I ride every day and I'm really getting quite healthy and rested after my two years of labor on the C.P. It seems very queer not to be getting the paper out every week and along about Wednesday I get quite panicky until I remember it's a long ways away. I read every word in the paper and if it's a day late I'm most annoyed."

Sounds like Betty is most domesticated now, doesn't it?

RACHEL'S

READERS' LETTERS

My Dear Mr. Blanchard:

Forty-seven years ago my Managing Editor, Col. Merrill of The New York American, cautioned me about making statements before thoroughly searching for the truth of my statement.

You feel badly because "the scientists spent so much time in the perfection of the atomic bomb and neglected investigation into the refinement of sea water."

Had you read the papers and magazines during the past five years you would never have caused this comment.

Our government spent millions in this cause and now as during the late war, you will find in Bermuda and other coral islands, great power houses which furnish millions of gallons of drinking water to these inhabitants who have been dependent upon rain alone for centuries. This method of condensation is really nothing new. To a lesser extent and conversely we have a plant in our immediate locality which extracts the salt from the sea, discarding the unpurified water which, if the cost of purification were not prohibitive, could be piped to locations so badly in need of moisture. The concern to which I refer is The Morton Salt company.

Please don't feel badly—the man doesn't live who has not committed a faux pas.

Respectfully,
WM. M. WOLFF.

Note:
My dear Mr. Wolff:—In your fourth paragraph you state that the cost of purification of salt water is prohibitive. Don't you think that was exactly the gist of my article? Elementary physics, as applied by Newton, taught me that by laying under an apple tree loaded with fruit, I would in time get "banged on the bean." So, now I have been beamed.

(Incidentally, I did have some trouble keeping up on my reading during the years you mention).
—H.D.B.

GROWTH NOTED

In my previous articles I have shown how Campbell is growing to the extent of more than 1000 new homes. The occupants of each of these houses must spend on food alone an average minimum of $20 each week. A simple calculation shows this to total in excess of $1,000,000 annually. What does this mean to our tradesmen? They are faced with three alternatives: (1) They must make preparations to greatly increase their business, and must prove that they are able and willing to supply reliable merchandise at competitive prices. They must also keep their stores and stocks attractive; or (2) new firms must be induced to locate here to meet these demands; or (3) all this extra business will go elsewhere. It will be interesting to note which of these three alternatives will be achieved.

If this affects the food industry, surely it must also apply to other businesses.

Serious complaints are constantly being heard about the high prices of new homes, and often one hears remarks that $5000 homes can be built. Let us examine this carefully.

If this affects the food industry, which could have been bought in 1940 for around $500 is now selling for $1000 or more. That necessarily is the first step in raising home prices.

Wholesale lumber prices have greatly increased, for what could have been bought for $1000 in 1940 is now costing $2100 or more.

Carpenters' wages have doubled since 1940, and as it takes a minimum of 700 man hours to build a small house this means an increase of $100 in carpenters wages alone.

A house which would have been built for $6000 in 1940 now costs $12,147. In 1940 the realtor's commission for selling these homes was $300, but now it is more than $600.

Plumbing for a small home in 1940 cost $375, but it is now advanced to $850 or more.

Electric wiring for a similar house in 1940 cost around $60, but it is now much nearer $175.

The dollar value in 1947 is 28c, the lowest it has been since 1920.

I have made inquiries in this area and the lowest price house I have been able to find is in a sub-division in East San Jose. This house contained one bedroom, living room, kitchen with dinette and bathroom with shower only (no bath). It also had no garage. These

Organization

All About 'Wutzit'

Are you wondering about our little "Wutzit All About?" We hope you aren't too bewildered because the title does indicate exactly what our column is all about. The "Wutzit" Club, perhaps known to more of our readers as The Santa Clara Youth Center.

The dramatic group is turning its attention to radio activities with the formation of a Radio Guild. First general meeting was held October 1. At that time questionnaires were given applicants, requesting information concerning their dramatic backgrounds and their specific interest in the group. Under the direction of Eddie Dolan, the Radio Guild plans productions on stations KLOK and KEEN.

"Songs Old and New" (KLOK on Saturday, 2 p.m.) sponsored by the Youth Center, is now under the auspices of the Radio Guild. Arrangements have been made for a series of dramatic sketches over station KEEN. The programs, adaptations of famous short stories will be broadcast Wednesday evenings at 10.

Incidentally, the Wutzit club has started its own newspaper. Written by members of the club, it is edited by Jim Mettee and is intended for weekly publication.

In the process of organization is a new orchestra for the center. It will be under the direction of Mr. George Curran, who is music director for the University of Santa Clara. Youngsters participating in the orchestra's activities can look forward to assistance from members of the SCU band.

'The Guardsman' Is Friday Play

San Jose State College department of speech and drama opens its season Friday October 10, with a faculty production of Molnar's comedy, "The Guardsman."

Cast with members of the speech and drama faculty, the play will initiate the department's new studio theater, with a ten-night run.

Playing the roles will be James Clancy and Elizabeth Loeffler. Mr. Clancy is familiar to theatergoers in the bay area for his many fine performances in both amateur and professional productions.

Miss Loeffler, new director of drama at S.J.S., comes from the University of Washington and has acted in many university and community theaters.

were sold for $6200.

In another sub-division houses comprising two bedrooms, bathroom with either a tub or shower, living room, kitchen with dinette, single garage, were sold for $7200.

It is all very well for anyone to say they can build today a two bedroom house for $5000, but I would ask, Why don't they? Many building contractors would gladly do so if it was at all possible.

Every time there is an increase in wages, in any industry, the prices of articles manufactured advance in proportion. So if you desire low prices it is absolutely necessary to prevent further increases in wages.

The figures I have quoted were prepared by the nationally known firm of R. Wentzlick & Co., St. Louis, appraisers and counselors, to whom I am greatly indebted. However, so as to ensure accuracy as far as possible, I have checked with local contractors.

I shall be delighted to hear from any reader who cares to ask any questions on the matter here dealt with.—GEO. E. ARLIDGE.

Cast Selected For 'Believe It Or Not'

Members of the cast for "Believe It Or Not" are holding rehearsals now under the direction of Dean Chamberlin, with Gregory Parker taking the spotlight as Norman Folles who becomes involved in a girl's make-up and change of voice. The play, which will be presented by the Footlighters in the Campbell Union High school auditorium November 7, is being sponsored by the Campbell Garden club.

Following is the list of characters: Lena, the maid, Ida Levenberg; Mrs. Pottle, a sentimental dowager, Marian Nelson; Gladys Pottle, Eldabeth Hill; Jane Pottle, Mrs. Baxter; Nancy Hamilton Jean Shetter; Harriet Folles, Alice Proncato; the plumber, Budd Levenberg; Cuthbert Jackson, Lloyd Nelson; Norman Folles, Gregory Parker; Uncle Silas, LBen Howard; Bridget O'Hara, Ellen Lanphair; health inspectress, Mary Parker; detective, Harvey Sheeter.

DINNER GUESTS

Sunday dinner guests at the home of Guy V. Berg of Pollard Avenue, were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Arrighi and son Louie, and John Arrighi of Daly City and Mr. and Mrs. Marian Morzzini of San Mateo.

HISTORY OF CAMPBELL

By T. A. CUTTING

The town authorities attempted to keep gambling down to low stakes, but there were instances in which wealthy Californians were reduced to poverty in a single night at their favorite game of monte. Bull fighting was abolished in 1854. Only the Indians seemed to drink to intemperance. There was no written law; the alcalde rendered judgement according to precedent, or made laws to suit occasions as they arose. Court cases were argued by the disputants before the alcalde and judgement was immediate. Schools were provided intermittently, but were very unpopular and little attended. It was unsafe to wander outside the pueblo on account of the cattle which would attack a man on foot, but evade a mounted horseman.

Houses were constructed of adobe bricks a foot and a half square and three inches thick dried in the sun. Peeled poles were used for rafters and the roof was thatched with tule bound on with rawhide strips. Only enough grain, melons, and pumpkins were raised to fill the requirements of the family. Beef and bean stew seasoned with red peppers was the favorite dish. Flat wheat or corn cakes supplied bread.

In 1836 came more Indian troubles. Yoscalo, favorite neophyte of the mission suddenly turned renegade and armed 1000 Indians with bows and arrows. They broke into the mission at Santa Clara and made off with 500 Indian girls, 3000 head of cattle, 500 horses, and great quantities of supplies. Then they retreated across the San Joaquin into the mountains near Mariposa. A second renegade from Mission San Jose joined him. General Vallejo with 33 soldiers set out in pursuit, but the Indians escaped into the higher mountains. A patrol was established from Salinas to Mission San Jose to protect the isolated ranchos. Yoscalo became bolder with his success and made a second raid and then a third, this time retreating only into the Santa Cruz mountains. An Indian supplied with a flintlock from the mission finally killed him. Yoscalo's head was carried about on a pole for three days as a warning to future rebels. This seems to have been the last of the organized Indian attacks upon the valley.

From the establishment of Mexican independence in 1822 until California was taken over by the United States at the end of the Mexican War in 1848 the province was administered by a dozen successive governors. Some of them were popular and capable executives; others were quite unpopular and capable executives; others were quite unfit. Two of them were so arbitrary and incompetent that they were overthrown by popular revolts. At one time, in fact, the province briefly declared itself an independent state. Toward the end of Mexican rule the authorities were willing to confirm any choice which the Californians might wish to make. Some of them welcomed the Americans, but most of them were suspicious and a few definitely hostile.

In August, 1839, Captain John Sutter went up the Sacramento by boat and landed at the site which was later to become the goal of all immigrants from the east and finally the Capital of the State. The Mexican governor had granted him 99 square miles of any land he might select not already occupied. He chose the Sacramento Valley and erected an adobe house. To protect himself from Indians he surrounded it with a wall, also of adobe, and mounted several small cannon. The Indians soon decided to be friendly. At the height of his prosperity he had about 25,000 head of stock and employed hundreds of Indians and whites.

Scouts Lay Plans For Activities

The Senior Boy Scout committee under the direction of Dick Engfer met recently at the council office to make plans for the coming months. Included in the plans are a Bridge of Honor to be held in November, which will be a ceremonial and social gathering for the awarding of honors, followed by a dance. Host for the affair will be Ship 40 with John W. Miller, skipper.

Plans also include the development and improvement of the Sea Scout base at the Palo Alto Harbor and plans for the Senior Scouts to participate in a camping expedition to Philmont Camp in New Mexico next summer.

As the papers say:

When our pioneering forefathers arrived in this country, they faced an acute housing shortage. And they solved it without observing a National Housing Week, orating, resolving, conferring or asking for government aid. — Cincinnati Enquirer.

It isn't surprising to us that farmers lose a lot of soil through erosion by wind and rain. We have noticed that they leave their farms out in the weather all the time. — Cincinnati Enquirer.

The dollar is worth as much today as it was in 1934, says the Secretary of the Treasury. If he could only persuade the grocer and the butcher, wouldn't it be swell? — Ansonia Conn., Sentinel.

One Bremer County veteran wrote County Recorder John Syer recently asking for a certified copy of his discharge paper so that he could apply for his "eternal leave pay." — Waverly, Iowa, Democrat.

Heavy Enrollment At San Jose State

With an enrollment hovering near the 7000 mark, San Jose State college began its ninetieth year, a week ago Wednesday, with the largest number of students in its history. Registration for the autumn quarter is about 1300 higher than it was last year at this time. Veterans number more than 3300, or almost half of the student body, with an increase of 500.

About 100 students have enrolled in the R.O.T.C., which is offered this year for the first time. A similar number are registered in the Police School, which is working in close cooperation with the R.O.T.C.

The need for more buildings to house classes being offered by the twenty or more departments of the college is more urgent than ever, Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie reports. About $4,000,000 is available for new construction, he reported to the faculty, but the building program is being held up because of high construction costs.

Veterans' News

The 10 questions that World War II veterans ask most frequently about job-training benefits under the G. I. Bill were answered today by Veterans Administration.

Veterans asked the questions in a study that VA conducted recently to learn how much they know about their Federal benefits.

The questions and answers follow: Q. How much subsistence is paid for on-the-job training and what is the effect of the wage ceiling?

A. Veterans in job-training under the G. I. Bill receive $65 a month if they have no dependents. If they are earning $175 (without dependents) or $200 with dependents) exclusive of their subsistence allowances, they are not entitled to VA subsistence payments under the law.

Q. What is the difference between on-the-job training and apprentice training?

A. The field in on-the-job training is almost limitless. It includes any job, except those of recognized trade status, that has been approved by a State approving agency. The period of on-training must not be less than three months and more than two years. Apprentice training is similar to other job-training, but it only covers certain skilled trades of an apprenticeable nature. Instead of training under an employer, as is the case of a veteran in job training may run to a maximum of four years.

Nearly 500 delegates from almost every county in the state made the decision to form a new party in California at a meeting held in Los Angeles on August 24. The delegates came from AFL, CIO, railroad and independent unions and from a number of other progressive groups in the state. Veterans, small farmers, professional people, members of pension groups and youth organizations were represented.

A meeting of the organizing committee of the new party, which was elected at the Los Angeles meeting, met in Fresno on September 28. More than 70 members from northern and southern California attended. They adopted a statement of principles for the new party and called for 15,000 petition circulators to collect 275,970 registered voter signatures before February 26, 1948. The signatures are required by law to place a new party on the ballot. Voters need not change their present registration in order to circulate or sign the petition.
